Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Hi I'm a college student at The Ohio State University and the Microsoft Settlement is not fair to a successful company who has done more for the public good than any-other tech company in the business. Why penalize a company because they are successful. Its not Microsoft's fault that consumers do not buy their competitor's junk product. Also, if Microsoft is paying my education. I was fortunate to have been able to trade shares of Microsoft to pay for my college education instead of taking college loans to pay for it. If Microsoft tanks I highly feel that I would not be able to sell shares and make enough money off the transactions to pay for school. Our Country is having tough economic times and penalizing Microsoft for its success would further send our country down the economic toilet.

Thank You,
George M. Papp
